THINKS EMPRESS IS WRONG.
SO THINKS COMMODORE GERMINET
OF THE FRENCH NAVY.

Believes Russia, Germany and France
Will Work Together in China
as in 1905.

Hundreds of people visited the French cruiser Protet Sunday, and doubtless many more would have gone had they known that the statement in a morning paper that nobody aboard could talk English was absolutely false. Visitors were met at the gangway by a typically polite Frenchman in the uniform of a sergeant, who, in the best of English, inquired if you wished to see anyone in particular. While The Republican representative was waiting for Commodore M. Germinet to finish his luncheon, this sergeant took a party all over the ship, explaining in English the use of this and the size of that, occasionally stopping to look searchingly into his hearers' faces to see whether he had used the correct word or given it the correct accent. A great many of the tubes and equipments are labeled with neat brass signs which correspond so closely to the English spelling that one almost forgets he is aboard a French ship but for the triangular features, accentuated by the French goatee, one meets at every turn.

During the tour of the ship an orderly came rushing up to say that the commodore was at liberty. Arriving at the vestibule of the commodore's suite, the orderly stopped, and with a decided gesture to wait for permission before entering, disappeared soon to return with a tall, business-like appearing officer who turned out to be the commodore's aid-de-camp. He in turn disappeared, and, finally, receiving permission, ushered the reporter with much ceremony into the presence of the commodore, whose command is obeyed by the French fleet throughout the entire Pacific ocean, excepting that portion which is attached to the China station.

Commodore Germinet is a most genial gentleman, and was on the China station himself for three years in the early 80's. He has not lost his interest in China, however, although he states positively that his squadron could not be used in Chinese waters, even in an emergency. He is entirely independent of the French admiral in the China sea, reporting direct to Paris. "And to be independent is the greatest thing in life," said he. Of course his replies to direct questions about China were invariably a French shrug of the shoulders and the most pleasant "That is a very difficult question." However, he did not hesitate to say that, in his opinion, Russia, France and Germany would work together in any trouble in China, and, further, he said the Empress Dowager was making a big mistake.

"Have you met the Empress Dowager?"

"Oh, no. Why, when I was in China no one was permitted to see the Empress. It was forbidden to know the Empress's age. Some guessed he was 7, some that he was 12 and some thought him 17. These were the members of the Diplomatic Corps. I was then aid-de-camp to the admiral and saw a great deal of the diplomats. Yes, the Empress is said to be very shrewd and a wily diplomat (then a pause) in some ways, but perhaps not for her best interests and the interests of the dynasty she represents. I think she has made a great mistake and that her dynasty will not rule much longer."

In what way she had made the mistake the crafty commodore declined to specify, nor would he say anything about the Boxers, except that "it is indeed a very difficult question." When it was suggested to him that America was too busy in the Philippines to trouble herself about China, the commodore glanced suddenly out of the momentarily lowered eyelids and said: "Yes, in a way which might have meant almost anything under the sun, but it struck the reporter that he did not think America would keep herself out of the Chinese question."

Commodore Germinet is charmed with Honolulu, and says he has been splendidly treated here. If it were not for the fact that his orders are to celebrate the national feast day, as he calls it, July 14, in Tahiti, where his entire squadron will be assembled for the purpose, he would be glad to stay longer in Honolulu. He stayed over Sunday just to please the Bishop of Papeete. He promises to send another ship up here next year. He will leave the Pacific station next year, having already spent one of the two years which assignments last in the French navy. The Protet sails Wednesday.

YACHTSMEN WANT TO HAVE RACES.

Efforts to Have Boats Run on the "Fourth."—Celebration Committee Asked to Help.

A meeting was held on Saturday afternoon at the office of the Pacific Cycle Company of persons interested in racing matters and who desired to aid the Committee on Celebration of the coming glorious Fourth by inducing yacht owners to make a grand display of their craft in a series of competitive races on that day.

Mr. T. W. Hobron was chosen chairman of the meeting, and the result of the business transacted was that a preliminary program was arranged which provides for four classes of yachts to compete and with the novelty of a one-gun start, thus giving experts an opportunity to gain a point in placing their yachts to the front. If the Celebration Committee will meet the yachtmen in a proper spirit of liberality in prizes, the following yachts will very probably give the general public an opportunity to view a very interesting and pretty sight. The names of the yachts and owners expected to line up are as follows:

First class—La Paloma, Clarence Macfarlane; Eva, Oscar White; Helene, Fred Whitney.

Second class—Hawaii, Judge Wilcox; Healan, Frank M. Hatch; Marion, J. Lightfoot.

Third class—Clytie, T. W. Hobron; Harpoon, Harry Wilder; Leona, Hui Malolo, A. B. Wood; Pokii, H. Williams.

Fourth class—Edith L., Sam Dowsett; Pauline, Frank Godfrey; Abbie M., H. M. Dow; Anna, Charles Chillingworth.

It was decided that Mr. R. H. Brotherton wait on the chairmen of this year's Celebration Committee and inform him of the proposed program, ascertain the intention of the committee and report back to a yachtmen's meeting to be held, by courtesy of Ruby A. Dexter, at the office of the Pacific Cycle Company, on the evening of the 27th inst. The meeting displayed a spirit of business and enthusiasm, and it remains with the Celebration Committee whether the yachts appear or not.

THE MAN WHO DRESSES WELL

Has that satisfactory feeling which invariably comes to a man after partaking heartily of an excellent dinner. It causes him to wonder what there is in the world to be miserable about.

THE "KASH"

Is a rendezvous for well dressed men. Very Modish are the Suits and Furnishing Goods shown by us this season. Our windows tell about them. Have a look during luncheon hour.

"It's a very good world to live in.
To lend, or to spend, or to give in.
But to beg, or to borrow, or to get a man's own.
It is the very worst world that ever was known."

AND WORST OF ALL, the dear old world is busy trying to forget how to give a lot for a little. It's a bad of ours TO BE FRANK. And, beside, if we advertised at all times to give you more than "your money's worth," it would be an insult to your intelligence.

THIS IS WHAT WE DO—We give you one hundred cents' worth of merchandise for one dollar—EVERY TIME. Ask some of your friends—they know. We are offering this week Crash Suits for Men—Coat, Vest and Pants at $2.85 the Suit.
